French Attitude On War Debt To America Puzzles Officials

POWERS AWAIT FIRST MOVE OF CHINA LEADER

Sun Yat Sen Expects To Seize Customs Despite Interference

By Associated Press
Canton—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, south China leader, whose recent threat to seize the customs funds, of Kwangtung province resulted in the concentration of warships of five foreign powers here, plans to take the first decisive step in the controversy on Dec. 19, according to information obtained from official sources here.
A strong anti-American and anti-Japanese sentiment developed at a mass meeting here Tuesday in connection with the dispute over Sun's claim to the customs surpluses and the presence of the foreign flotilla off Shantzen, the foreign quarter of Canton. Japanese were accused of supplying arms and ammunition to pirates and brigands, by speakers at the meeting. Sun has been presenting his side of the controversy over the customs surpluses to the American residents through appeals being made through agents.
It is claimed that there is complete unanimity among officials of the Canton government concerning Sun's announced plan of seizing the customs funds, to prevent the surplus above 13 per cent, the amount allotted from going to the Peking government to be used later, according to Dr. Sun, in attempting to suppress his activities.

Recent Proposal Regarding Funding Of Obligations Appears To Be Nothing More Than Bluff

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923 by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Although the French foreign office told American newspaper men several days ago that a proposal to pay the United States the war debt of approximately three and a half billion dollars by payments extending over 140 years at 2 per cent interest was being considered, no such offer has been made to the United States government.

While the offer on its face conflicts with the provisions of the existing law whereby congress empowered the World War Funding commission to make arrangements for payments extending not over 25 years, the French suggestion has attracted considerable interest here, largely because it is the first time the French have presented anything concrete.
There is some doubt expressed here in well-informed quarters that France will ever make the proposal official to the United States government. The disposition of those who have followed French policy closely is to believe that the French offer was made for newspaper consumption and in recognition only of the rising tide of sentiment in the United States with respect to the French attitude toward the American debt.

NO ACKNOWLEDGEMENT
The French have been criticized for declining to discuss their indebtedness to America. The fact of the matter is that the French have never acknowledged their obligation to pay the United States in explicit negotiations with the American government.
Some newspaper statements have appeared stating that the French of course would some day pay their debts and had no idea of repudiating them, but the truth is there is nothing official on record to show that the French government means to pay the debt.

No provision has been made in any French budget since the war for interest or sinking fund on the American debt. Meanwhile the French have loaned money to some of the nations in Europe and have insisted that Germany pay to the full amount of her reparations.
Congress is going to discuss the French attitude extensively. The executive branch of the government and the World War Funding commission is not pressing France. On the contrary, no move is being made in that direction, though Senators Smoot and Borah have indicated that the United States should make it clear to France that American public opinion does not favor the cancellation or repudiation of the debt.

FRANCE UNDISTURBED
The funding commission has indicated to the French a willingness to forego the interest accumulated to date on the French debt and make a new deal, but even this did not meet with any response from the French. The money loaned to France during the war was raised from the American people who have to be repaid either by the French or by the American government. At present the United States government is taxing its citizens to raise the money to redeem the bonds issued during the war for the benefit of the French loans. The interest alone in the American budget on all war debts, including the French amounts to more than a billion dollars a year, or more than one-fourth of the entire receipts from taxes. If the French like the British, were to begin paying interest, the burden of taxation would be reduced and some of the new expenses like the bonus could be taken care of.

What officials here are wondering is how France can continue to lend money to other nations and decline even to pay interest on the debt to America. Congress will debate the matter at an early date.

SAILSTAD DENIES EMBEZZLING FUND

Mystery Man Says Company Had No Money Which He Might Have Taken

By Associated Press
Superior—Denial that he had, as stated in news dispatches from Superior, used $25,000 to $30,000 of the funds belonging to the Multitone Phonograph Co., for speculative purposes, was made by Edward J. Sailstad, held at the county jail on a charge of arson. In an interview Tuesday night, Sailstad explained that the company originally was capitalized for $30,000 and later this amount was increased to $110,000. He stated that $75,000 was invested in the building and that there was on the books only $30,000 in accounts receivable. He said that most of the money was invested in materials and machinery.
"It's all bunk," he insisted. "There wasn't any money in the company available for speculation if I did want to use it."

MEDICS ASK STRICT STATE EXAMINATION

GOVERNOR ASKS RETRACTION OF PICKETT STORY

Blaine Denies Responsibility For Desertion Of Badger Industries

Madison—Statements that factories are moving from Wisconsin to other states, alleged to have been made in a recent issue of a nationally known agricultural magazine, were declared to be false by Governor Blaine in a letter to John E. Pickett, editor of the publication, made public Wednesday. The governor said that such statements do not "contain a single element of truth" and are a "falsehood and slander" on the state. He asked that retraction be printed.

Governor Blaine declared that he cannot condemn the magazine for printing the statements, stating that certain newspapers in this state "published false and slanderous articles on the state."

"There are twelve states which have a larger population than Wisconsin and fourteen states which have a greater total wealth, and twenty states that produce oil and coal, necessary in manufacturing," Governor Blaine's letter said. "While Wisconsin is thus handicapped, she has gradually grown in rank as a manufacturing state until today she ranks eighth in the number of establishments and in capital invested. All eastern and southern states show smaller percentage of increase than Wisconsin. Moreover, industry in Wisconsin is free from labor disturbances.

"There has not been a single industry that has moved its plant out of the state."

Merry Christmas Impossible If You Don't Help Needy

Good Fellows Fund Far Short Of Supplying Appleton's Poorest Families With Spark Of Happiness

That "Merry Christmas" greetings on Christmas morning is going to be a mockery to a good many people in Appleton. To many families Christmas will be the dreariest day of the year, because they will have less on Christmas than on other days—that would be impossible—but because they see happiness and joyousness about them while their own Christmas is just another day. To other families the greeting will be a mockery, because a truly merry Christmas is possible only to those who are at peace with their consciences and how can any one be peaceful when he knows he has done nothing to alleviate distress when he was in a position to help?

For Good Fellows Christmas will be a happy occasion. Good Fellows are the men and women who have contributed from their means to make others happy. They are of the salt of the earth, their hearts are in the right place and functioning properly. If you want to know who the Good Fellows are on Christmas just look around and watch the people who really are happy, whose consciences are not pricking them for something undone.

Distress in Appleton this year is acute. There are a number of men out of work whose large families are suffering severely because of lack of proper clothing and food. There are many widows who are barely existing with their brood of children. It is for such as these that this appeal is made.

It is the ragged, hungry youngsters, unfortunate beyond description, who will receive the bounty of the Good Fellows. These children, denied the birthright of childhood happiness, may not be forgotten on children's day. But folks, unless you act now by sending your contribution to the Good Fellows club there are going to be quite a number of children forgotten. The Good Fellows fund doesn't contain nearly half enough to provide for them. Surely we don't want it to be said that the good folks of Appleton would forget their poor friends. Prove your sympathy by clipping the coupon on Page 2 of today's paper and sending it with your contribution to the Good Fellows Club editor of the Post-Crescent.

SUSPECT DRUG KILLED BANDIT RULER, RAISULI

Notorious Moorish Brigand Chief Plied Trade More Than 40 Years

London—Another report of the death of Mulai Ahmed Raisuli, the notorious brigand chief of Morocco, reached London Wednesday from the Tangiers correspondent of the Daily Mail. There is a suspicion, says the telegram, that Raisuli was poisoned.

The picturesque career of the legendary Robin Hood, were it to be taken from the depths of Sherwood Forest to the desert wastes of Spanish Morocco and there re-enacted in these modern times, would scarcely be more replete with colorful adventure than was the life of Mulai Ahmed Raisuli, international bandit deluxe, whose many kidnapping episodes in connection with his more than 40 years of brigandage have netted half a dozen great powers, not excepting the United States.
Raisuli, like many of his noted bandit predecessors, was prone to maintain that he practiced brigandage purely in the interest of the weak and the oppressed, and that he robbed the rich in order that he might better relieve the poor. Despite this explanation, there is no record that his charitable benefactions ever extended beyond the limits of his own little following.

Although he was a peaceful farmer in early life, he claimed to be of noble birth, and frequently produced letters purporting to establish this contention. His career as a bandit began following his escape from prison in 1882, when he was 20 years of age. He had served five years, much of it in torture chamber, for an alleged offense against the Sultan's authority.

In character, he seemed to possess all the traditional cruelty of his Moorish race, especially in dealing with his enemies, yet he was known to display genuine sympathy for a child in trouble and was noted for his kindness to animals.

USE GUNS TO GUARD JURY IN FOX TRIAL

Bailiffs Forced To Threaten Men Attempting To Interfere

Atlanta, Ga.—Bailiffs in charge of the jury sitting in the case of Philip E. Fox, on trial here for killing William S. Cowburn, a Ku Klux Klan attorney, had to threaten to draw their pistols on six men who had attempted to forcibly interfere with the jurors while they were taking an outdoor recess early Wednesday, the officers reported to court officials.
The jurors were walking in double file formation on a street near the court house, the bailiffs stated. Six men rushed up to the body of men and immediately began talking to them, the officers said.

"We ordered them away," the bailiffs told their superiors. "When they refused, we made motions to draw our guns and they dispersed but not until they saw we meant business."
The jury has been under a double guard, bailiffs said. A group of men has been following the jurors each time they have been taken from the court building, the officers stated.
Additional guards will be assigned to protect the jury, it was announced. The police are investigating the bailiffs' report.

FORD DECLINES NOMINATION IN 1924 CAMPAIGN

Magnate Says He Feels Country Is "Safe With Coolidge"

MAKES POSITIVE REFUSAL

Nominating Petitions For Henry And President Entered In Michigan

Detroit—Henry Ford, Wednesday declared "he, like a majority of the American people," feels that the country is "safe with Coolidge" and that he himself would never consider running against Mr. Coolidge on any ticket.
"I believe it is the wise and natural thing for the people to agree on the nomination and election of Mr. Coolidge," Mr. Ford said. "I am satisfied that 90 per cent of the people feel perfectly safe with Coolidge and I feel, too, that the country is perfectly safe with him. And if this is the feeling of the country, why change."
"Mr. Coolidge has shown in these months of service a great many qualities that should please his countrymen. I think that all feel that Mr. Coolidge means to do right, and when a man means to do right so far as I have observed, it's usually quite easy for him to find the way to do right."
"Some people seem disturbed over the conditions which business will face during the presidential election year. Of course, there must be an election. But there is no reason why business should be disturbed by it, if the people by common consent agree they will hold to a good man while they have him."
"Asked concerning the use of his own name in connection with the presidency, Mr. Ford said: "No man has a right to say he never will consider public office nor accept public office. No man can predict his own acts and feelings so strongly as that."
"But this I will say that I would never for a moment think of running against Calvin Coolidge for president, on any ticket whatever. In this present situation, I am for Coolidge."

Regarding the numerous Ford-Ford President organizations and the recent conference held here, persons close to the automobile manufacturer said he had given them "not half a moment's thought."

PETITIONS FILED

Jacksonville, Ill.—Fire destroyed the large Cherry service station, an automobile garage and badly damaged the building of the Cannon Produce Co. Tuesday night. The loss is estimated at $300,000. MAIL RUSH IS FAR FROM PEAK RECORD OF LAST DECEMBER

Postmaster Fears Christmas Parcels Are Being Mailed Later Than Year Ago

Although 6,000 pieces of first class mail were postmarked Monday by the canceling machine in the Appleton postoffice in excess of the ordinary amount of mail, this increase is below that of the first day of Christmas week last year, according to Postmaster William H. Zuehlke. The parcel post business, however, is now about double the average day's business.

On Monday 21,000 letters and postcards went through the canceling machine, but the peak of the mail canceled during the Christmas week last year was 22,355 pieces. It is evident that the business is not all over the gas. Christmas post cards mailed as early as they should as to have them arrive before Christmas. The biggest mail jam in history is expected on Monday, Dec. 24, as that will be after a Sunday and before Christmas day on which very little delivery will be made.

Patrons still make the mistake of mailing their cards the last two days before Christmas with the expectation that they will arrive at their destination before Christmas. Patrons should not wait until the latter part of the week, but should mail their cards now.

Parcel post that formerly arrived on the 525 train in the morning now comes in a storage car on the North-western train that arrives here at 11:57 at night, which makes it possible to deliver business mail somewhat earlier.

DEATH CAR DRIVER SENT TO PRISON

By Associated Press
Manitowoc—Eighteen months in the Green Bay reformatory is the penalty Robert Porter, recently of Kohler, will pay for the death of Albert Frank, Wilmette, Ill., man, with his automobile early on the morning of Oct. 1, near St. Wendell, in the southern part of this county. Judge Kirwan sentenced him after Porter had changed his plea from not guilty to guilty.

Porter, driving a sedan and accompanied by a party of young men and women, was going from a dance hall toward Kohler, where he was employed, when the car struck Frank, who was riding a motorcycle, also returning from a dance. Frank died by the roadside and was found a few hours later by a motorist.

After the accident Porter fled and was arrested three days later at St. Paul.

RURAL PATRONS GLAD CARRIERS WILL GET CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY

Ministers and rural patrons are congratulating the rural mail carriers on their good fortune of having finally obtained an all day holiday on Christmas. So far not one of the patrons has complained about the fact that there will be no delivery in rural districts on Christmas, but they seem to be pleased to do their shopping and mailing earlier so that carriers may enjoy Christmas in common with the rest of the occupations.

BIGGEST RAILROAD CAR BRINGS COAL TO APPLETON

The largest freight car ever consigned to Appleton arrived Wednesday at the yards of Hettinger Lumber company loaded with 180,000 pounds or 90 tons of coal. It is of the battleship type with hopper bottom and the sides are as high as the average box car. The car belongs to the Norfolk & Western Railway company and its number is 100,533. It is an object of curiosity for railroad men and shippers generally. Time was when freight cars had a capacity of only 25 tons and a good many of the older railroad men thought the limit had been reached when cars with a capacity of 50 tons made their appearance.

MAKE CHRISTMAS SAFE AS WELL AS HAPPY, CHIEF SAYS

Fire Department Head Suggests Precautions To Prevent Christmas Fires

Not wishing to be branded as a "kill-joy," but rather maintaining the Christmas merriment as much as to anyone, Chief George P. McGilgan of the Appleton fire department in his annual Christmas message warned against transforming a household of cheer into one of sorrow which may result from any one of the customary Christmas fire hazards.

The most common of these hazards, he said, is the use of Christmas candles on Christmas trees or on window sills.

"A little care with fire on Christmas day will not detract a particle from the enjoyment of the occasion," he assured. "Take Christmas trees, for instance; they do not need to be decked with lighted candles in order to be pretty. Colored electric light assemblies are more ornamental and, when properly made, far safer. If a bright light is focused on the tree in a darkened room, the effect also is pleasing, and with this there is practically no danger. If electric current is not available on a farm, the tree ought not be illuminated."

CANDLES DANGEROUS

"Candles are always hazardous," the chief continued. "Placing them in windows, though prompted by a beautiful sentiment, is extremely dangerous where there are inflammable curtains and decorations. The candles, it seems, are coming back into popularity and I am informed that the fire records of the National Board of Fire Underwriters."

Among other suggestions Chief McGilgan mentioned the following: Trees should be set up securely so that they will not topple over. Use metal tin-foil, flake asbestos and powdered mica for snow effects, instead of cotton and paper. Evergreens should be removed immediately after Christmas before they dry out. Avoid toys requiring volatile liquids and motion picture machines with inflammable films. Tell Santa Claus to avoid cotton whiskers. His costume can be fireproofed with a solution of alum.

If anyone's clothing catches fire, he should be rolled in a rug or woolen cloth to smother the blaze. Keep the flames away from the face. Avoid cheap electrical plug things that are poorly wired, as they may cause serious burns and fires. Keep rubbish from accumulating.

"Of course," concluded the chief, "the business of the firemen is to extinguish fires, and day or night he is ready to answer the summons. But he has feelings too, and he would like to enjoy Christmas as well as any body else. Anybody can help by avoiding those fire hazards."

ON THE SCREEN

INSPIRING ROMANCE IN NEW CABANNE FILM

An unusually interesting romance is sold to be presented in the William Christy Cabanne production "Till We Meet Again," presented today and Thursday at the New Bijou theatre. In it Mae Marsh, returning to the screen after an absence of several years, enacts of part of a girl who is loved by a thief gang leader and also by a rich young aristocrat.

The aristocrat is of her station in life but her heart is touched by the selfish devotion of the crook who had been her only friend in an hour of great need.

The indecision in the heart of the girl is said to be experienced by the audience, whose sympathies are equally divided, so that suspense is kept up until the final scene said to be one of the most gripping climaxes ever screened.

The two leading male roles are portrayed by Norman Kerry and Walter Miller. Others in the cast are Martha Mansfield, J. Barney Sherry and Julia Ewaine Gordon. The story is Mr. Cabanne's own, adapted to the screen by Edmund Goulding. It is a recent Associated Exhibitors release.

ENEMIES OF WOMEN AT ELITE TONIGHT

Actual motion pictures of Monte Carlo, its Casino and Terrace and glimpses of Cote d'Azur, with members of its cast in the scenes, are features of the Cosmopolitan picture, "Enemies of Women," directed by Alan Crosland from Blaise Cendrars' latest novel, which will close its engagement at the Elite tonight. The director took the entire company to the Riviera where six weeks were spent on these scenes. They are magnificent in their beauty. So are the gorgeous palace and villa sets, designed by Joseph Urban, famous Viennese artist, in which Prince Michael Lubimoff, Russian warlord, stages gorgeous parties, made vivid by many beautiful women and highly colored decorations.

The action of the story begins at Lubimoff's Palace in Moscow in 1913 and ends in Monte Carlo in 1918. The plot deals with the decadent Prince, played by Lionel Barrymore, and his regeneration, along with that of Alicia Rubens, through war service and self-sacrifice. The disolute Prince gives Mr. Barrymore one of his finest screen creations; he sets it with brilliant and sardonic realism. Miss Rubens also gives an eloquent performance—seven more dramatic than her acting in "Humoresque." The supporting cast, including Pedro de Cordoba, Gladys Hulette, William H. Thompson, Gareth Hughes, William H. Thompson, Gareth Hughes, William Collier, Jr., Mario Marjoni and Betty Dutton give valuable assistance.

Director Alan Crosland has handled the material in workmanlike fashion

Many Requests For License Plate Blanks

Judging from the number of persons who have applied to the Post-Crescent for automobile license application blanks, there will be many of the new black and white 1924 license plates in evidence here immediately after the first of the year. The state license bureau has announced that no "time of grace" will be allowed to obtain the 1924 plates. If the cars are driven after the first of the year they must have the new license plates.

The new plates will have plain white letters on a black background. The design is the same as in previous years except that before the license number will appear a letter to indicate the weight class of the car, as A-502, 157. The star again will designate the dealer's license.

The Post-Crescent has a number of application blanks which it will be glad to give to car owners applying for them. If the owner will tell the name of his car, the year, type, whether touring, roadster, coupe or sedan, the weight and the license fee will be indicated on the application blank. The blanks may be obtained by calling for them in person or by accompanying the mail request with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

and has drawn from the big novel a tightly constructed, dramatic and coherent picture which moves swiftly to its thrilling conclusion. There are two most realistic fights—one, the duel between Barrymore and Paul Panzer, staged in a snowstorm, and the other a hand to hand conflict between the Prince and a giant Russian "red." More spectacular fights it would be difficult to discover in any photoplay. Altogether "Enemies of Women" is a picture that will entertain and thrill. It rewards the eye with as many pictorial beauties as it does the emotions with its dramatic story.

"FONJOLA"

Poets have sung of the beauty of a woman's hair. But what is beautiful hair if it stands in the way of art? Anna Q. Nilsson sacrificed all her hair that she might appear in the leading feminine role of "Fonjola," a First National picture, coming to the Elite Theatre. In this picture she enacts the role of an English noblewoman, who masquerades as a man and lives among the hardened characters of the South African veldt.

GLORIFYING A SUICIDE OF INTELLIGENCE

Miss Fannie Hurst, the author, has been married for eight years. Her husband, Mr. Danielson, lives in another apartment. They have breakfast together about two days out of seven. The arrangement has worked perfectly. They see each other only at intervals sufficient to maintain the freshness and distinctiveness of their individual personalities.

Miss Hurst does not advise all young people to try the same plan. Sometimes, she says, it won't be necessary to have separate apartments. The main point is to keep your sense of privacy and freedom to go on "sharpening your wits, the source of your first attraction, with other women and other men" to keep "continually new and different."

"The wind before the dawn" is what Miss Hurst calls this new and beautiful movement for the freedom of women from their age-old sex slavery. There is no question but that it has a vast attraction today. Many independent young women who are making their own fortune by their wits have gone in for it. One phase is "trial marriages," another the retention of maiden names; another, "free love," and most frequent of all, "no children."

But the argument goes so far, then stops. None of its advocates have the courage to carry the exposition through to its logical outcome, which in practical effect would be the gradual elimination of the most intelligent and highly educated part of the human race.

Mr. Jones Haynes Holmes, for example, writing skillfully in the World Tomorrow, notes that "the higher the education, the fewer the women who are satisfied to believe that 'woman's place' is in the home." We are developing a new type of womanhood, commensurate in faculty and purpose and ideal with our long-accepted type of manhood. But Mr. Holmes does not choose to derive into the true effects of this condition. Statistics do not bother him as they may others.

The result of "the new type of womanhood" among the educated classes is a decline in marriage and childbirth in the most intelligent sector of society and a gradual fall in the percentage of these classes to the total population. Forty-five per cent of college women marry before the age of forty; the percentage for the general population is 90. The native white birthrate has fallen steadily, and the total American excess of births over deaths has declined from 35.6 per cent of the total population in the decade 1850-1860 to 14.9 per cent in 1910-1920. Of this decrease the more intelligent classes have taken by far the major share.

"The wind before the dawn" which Miss Hurst idealizes is really the wind before the twilight of race suicide, or more accurately, of the decline in the proportion of intelligence to population. For intelligence is inherited. It has to perpetuate itself the same as feeble-mindedness or club feet.

After all the old wedding notion that these twain become one—not two—had more than sentiment behind it. A new "freedom" against public policy is a poor freedom. It is more stupid than the present condition which it accuses of stupidity.

THE UNHEEDED LESSON

An eastern life insurance company estimates at 16,000 the total to which this year's deaths from automobile accidents in the United States will have climbed by the end of December.

In two years, in other words, the total of deaths from automobile accidents would practically equal the total of Americans who died in action in the World war. An annual roll of 16,000 auto deaths is more than twice the appalling sum of mortality in railroad accidents, which is of late about 7,000 a year, of which number only around 600 annually are passengers.

Year by year the advancing and lengthening scythe of motor vehicle fatality has been noted, its progress marked statistically, and the multitude exhorted by innumerable "Stop-look-listen" signs and "Safety First" societies and by improved traffic laws to keep down the speed, drive soberly and carefully, and watch out at crossings. The lesson is never learned, for the death lists do not recede. With every new demonstration in figures of the folly of careless driving that folly appears to claim more victims.

ROUNDING UP INDIANS

One very useful service of the present congress, if it could persuade itself to undertake such a break with the tradition of congresses since 1849, would be to abolish the Indian bureau of the department of the interior and save the country the $15,000,000 and more which is annually wasted upon the patronizing of Indians who could take care of themselves. Now that Secretary Work of the interior department has himself urged the turning of Indian affairs over to the states there should be some hope of action.

Joseph W. Latimer, a middlewestern attorney and a true friend of the Indian, in a recent booklet covers the entire shameful history of the nation's treatment of the original inhabitants of this continent. People may have several ideas about the best way to treat Indians, but Mr. Latimer will have the support of any thinking American in his contention that there is no use throwing money away for the sake of creating needless jobs for white people.

That was the principal aim and purpose of the Indian bureau from the start. It began with an annual appropriation of $800,000 and five agencies. It went out and rounded up every Indian it could find, whether or not that Indian was in a way to make his own independent livelihood or could just as well be educated by the local government. It pulled him into a reservation. It added 145 agencies. It built 2,450 unnecessary special schools for him and his children. By 1887 it had 243,399 Indians in its jurisdiction and was spending $5,000,000 a year. In 1920 it had 336,337 Indians, hauled in with or against their consent, and was spending $15,000,000 a year. The difference is due, not to an increase in Indians, but to the fact that the Indian bureau has been making dependents of them as fast as it could lay hands on them—and thereby creating agencies and patronage.

The worst example of extravagant self-perpetuating bureaucracy in Washington is the Indian bureau. It started out to make an independent citizen of the red man and has succeeded only in making him an increasingly burdensome public ward.

THE WRONG SPECIALIST

When a plain doctor like the helmsman of this boat column avers that it is a mistake to seek a heart specialist because you have gain around the heart, or a stomach specialist because you have dyspepsia, or a nerve specialist because you have neuritis, the motive will be questioned by those who are fond of trying specialists. Let us quote an instance to illustrate the motive.

A young man, a butcher, had been confined to his home for several weeks because of a form of paralysis which caused pain and disability of the legs. He had some friends, and the friends were quite naturally interested. Friend like, they presumed upon their relationship to advise the young man what he should do. One would not give him pain until he dropped his head and called a healer who acquired his education via the mail. This healer was confident he could cure the young man in 30 treatments. The patient took about a dozen of the treatments and then concluded to surrender his right to the rest—which he had paid for in advance. Next a masseur was summoned, who felt confident he could eliminate the nerve pressure and restore good use of the limbs. He tried a few weeks with unhappy results. Finally a nerve specialist was consulted. He diagnosed myelitis (spinal chord inflammation) and predicted (to the relatives) a fatal disease.

Discouraged, hopeless, the young man consented to have an ordinary doctor attend him and do what he could to ease his final days. Of course, the old doctor was "sore." The family assumed, and so a young tyro, new to the neighborhood, was called. First thing he did when he entered the room was to exclaim, "Whew." Then, to himself, "Must be something defunct around here." He proceeded to examine the patient from the equator north and south to the poles. "Pretty bad tonsils. They'll have to come out." Well, a man will catch at a straw. The tonsils were removed by a throat specialist, we are glad to remark—and the patient stood the operation well. The tonsils were pretty thoroughly permeated with septic foci—pus sockets. From this condition the odor in the room had originated.

Soon afterward the young man began to improve. In three months he returned to his shop cured.

His "myelitis" was really a multiple neuritis, caused by focal infection, as is most neuritis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A Case For Punishment

My father drinks very much and often comes home intoxicated. This grieves my mother very much. Is there anything I could give him in his coffee, to stop his craving for drink?—Miss T. M. C.

Answer—No. If your father is willing to be cured he can be cured by proper medical treatment in a hospital where he can be under expert control for a period of two or three weeks. Some appropriate punishment should be meted out to the persons who provide the poison in cases like this and for the persons who by their influence encourage the poisoners in their business.

Pulse And Respiration

Will you please tell me how to take the pulse and respiration and what is normal for adults? I know how to take the temperature.—Mrs. S. P. A.

Answer—A new book, "Home Nursing," by Emma Louise Mohs, will help you to count the pulse and respiration. It is published by W. B. Saunders & Co., W. Washington square, Philadelphia, Pa.

Raw Eggs And Wine

Please advise whether raw eggs and wine are a good blood builder.—Mrs. A. E.

Answer—A raw egg can give the body nothing which is not in a cooked egg; in fact, the egg albumin is more completely digested when cooked. The wine is just a deceiver, so far as strength, energy or blood building is concerned—it furnishes less of any of these than a similar quantity of milk does. The flush produced by the temporary relaxation of paralyzation of the surface vessels gives a false sense of warmth and a false appearance of circulatory stimulation and a false suggestion of "more blood."

MOON MADNESS

Dear Rollo: You're such a smart man and exceedingly able to answer questions that our friend Haskin can't think I would exhort you to answer this puzzle for me. Why is it that everybody is so crazy for moonshine? Most everybody makes it and those that don't are crazy to buy it. Those who don't buy it are crazy to drink it. Even our sheriffs and cops are crazy for it, and even Uncle Sam is chasing around looking for it? You'd think it was a good looking woman that everybody is crazy for. Please won't you clear up this deep problem for me?

—A. V.

You are right, Avery. Most everybody is crazy to make it, or crazy to buy it, or crazy to drink it. These are all symptoms of a malady to which the dramatist referred when he wrote that scenario, "Moon Madness." If you will look up the meaning of the word "lunacy," you will find that it is "a kind of insanity which is supposed to be influenced by the moon." Moral: Let the Moon alone and drink pink tea.

Dentistry Was Conceived In Fauchard Mind

(John J. Walsh, M. D., in Columbia Magazine)

The annual meeting of the Dental Society of the state of New York held this year in New York City made a feature of the celebration of the bicentenary of the publication of a work on dentistry published by Pierre Fauchard, a Frenchman, in 1723. It would seem that two hundred years ago there must have been very little knowledge of the diseases of the teeth and still less of the means for remedying them and of preserving those very valuable adjuncts to nutrition.

We have become accustomed to think that dentistry is a very modern development and I suppose that most people who heard of this celebration were inclined to think that the very fact that anybody two hundred years ago had thought at all about the matter of helping in the care of the teeth seemed quite sufficient to modern dentists to justify a celebration on their part of this very distant and of course very primitive pioneer, as it must be presumed, of modern dentistry. We are so taken with the idea of modern progress and of being so far ahead of the past that there could be scarcely any other feeling than this.

As a matter of fact, however, the dentists of the Empire state were quite serious in their celebration and they did not hesitate to proclaim Fauchard the father of modern dentistry. In the first place, what he wrote with regard to the teeth and their diseases and remedies 200 years ago was not a small pamphlet, nor ever a little volume, it was two rather ample volumes containing altogether nearly 1,000 pages. But what would a man possibly find to say about the teeth and dental care of them in such extensive fashion 200 years ago? The surprise that is contained in Fauchard's volumes. The more one reads of them the greater his surprise. The more skilled the modern dentist is and the more he knows the more he is amazed at the anticipations by this French surgeon of what are usually supposed to be the discoveries of very modern dentistry.

For it may be said at once that there is scarcely anything that the modern dentist does that Fauchard has not spoken about. He has many pages on orthodontia or the straightening of crooked teeth, which is usually supposed to be a dental specialty that developed only in the twentieth century. Fauchard has a description of pyorrhea, that disease which is sometimes supposed to be so modern and whose recognition is so very recent—that it is "better perfect. No one in our time could do any better.

This French army surgeon who at the beginning of the eighteenth century took up the specialty of the treatment of the teeth a time when manifestly there was great need for it, was an extremely observant and a profoundly thoughtful man.

Burn Explosives To Destroy Them

cases. The best practice is to remove the explosives from the wrapper, or slit and spread the cartridge apart.

The explosives are then spread in a thin layer on straw, paper, excelsior or other inflammable material. If the wrappers are removed, they should be spread out and burned on the same pile. A deep layer of explosives is dangerous, because when the material on top or on the edges starts to burn, there may be sufficient confinement to cause the underlying material to explode instead of burn. Some high explosives are so difficult to ignite that it is necessary to moisten them with kerosene before lighting; in fact the use of kerosene is advisable in every instance, because when sufficiently saturated with kerosene there is virtually no probability of explosion. Under no circumstances should the operator remain near enough to be in danger if an explosion should occur.

One way of igniting the explosives is to lay a trail of paper or excelsior which, when lighted, acts as a fuse and allows the operator to gain a safe distance before the flame reaches the powder. If blasting powder is at hand, a more positive method of ignition is to insert a fuse or an electric squib in the short train of blasting powder in contact with the thin layer of explosives. After the blasting powder is ignited by the fuse, or electric squib, it quickly causes the other explosives to burn.

Under no circumstances should the attempt be made to destroy high explosives by placing them in water, because nitro-glycerine and some other explosive ingredients are not soluble in water and are, therefore, not destroyed by immersion.

Q. Is the use of the camera in deciding close horse races a new development? M. I. N.

A. "The Field" says that it is not new. Twenty years ago, a photograph determined the winner of the great Salvo-Tenny race. The picture showed that the shoulders of both horses were absolutely level, but that Salvo was fully extended, thus bringing his head lower than that of Tenny, who was gathered for the next stride. This put Salvo in front at the line of judges, although the next stride, with Tenny extended and Salvo gathered, would have thrown Tenny in front.

Q. Where can I buy Lamona hoes? G. C.

A. No stock of Lamona hoes is being distributed at the present time because the hoes are not sufficiently established for distribution.

Q. What causes decay of standing timber? T. O.

A. Decay is caused by parasitic plants known as fungi. They live on the wood tissues and destroy it.

Q. How many companies are there in the Bell Telephone Company? G. W. C.

A. There are 25 companies associated with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in the Bell system. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company owns directly or indirectly all of the voting stock of 14 associated companies, 78 per cent of 9 others, and 31.5 per cent of 2 others.

Q. What is the origin of the expression "turning the tables"? E. L. R.

A. The expression "turning the tables" is a metaphor arising from the notion of players of games reversing their positions at the board.

Q. Please give some facts about roentgenium? H. V. S.

A. Roentgenium is a photomechanical intaglio process for the rapid printing of fine photographic illustrations. These illustrations, together with the accompanying text, are each on copper cylinders and are printed on a rotary machine which can print both sides of the paper simultaneously with a running speed of 2,000 impressions per hour, the paper being fed from a reel delivered in cut sheets. This process, which resembles photogravure in its results, was devised originally in Germany and brought out in the United States in 1912. It is now extensively used and enables the art supplements of Sunday newspapers, as well as illustrated weekly papers, to be prepared with a high degree of artistic excellence and affords a faithful reproduction of the original object.

Q. What American girl enlisted in the Continental Army, for the whole term of the Revolutionary War? R. B.

A. Deborah Samson enlisted thus in October, 1778. The military authorities supposed of course she was a young man. She was received and enrolled in the Army as Robert Shirley.

Q. Who wrote the Indian Love Lyrics? S. O. N.

A. They were the work of Amy Woodforde Fenden, one of the most gifted of modern English song writers. A memorial to her was unveiled recently in an English church.

Q. Where is the oldest 5 and 10 cent store? P. D.

A. A Woolworth 5 and 10 cent store in Lancaster, Pa., is the oldest of the kind in the world.

Q. Are the ambassadors and ministers to this country amenable to our traffic regulations? G. V. G.

A. In such matters as traffic regulations it is usual for them to conform to our ways, although representatives of foreign powers are not subject to our laws.

Happy Party Is Held By A.A.L.Force

Young Women Convert Office Into Supper Chamber For Christmas Feast

Christmas never passes by without a happy gathering at the A.A.L. Force for the exchange of gifts, but this year the employees decided to make it more of an occasion than in the past because this is the first Christmas celebrated in the new offices. A supper and party was held Tuesday evening.

Young women prepared a "spread" and served it in the directors' room on fifth floor of Insurance-bldg and invited officials of the association to be their guests. Covers were laid for 19.

At the center of the table was a large Christmas tree prettily decorated under which the presents were deposited for later distribution. Two smaller trees, lighted candles and artificial snow completed the trimmings of the room.

Informal talks were given by the officers and some of the employees and the exchange of gifts followed.

Packings on the gift presented Miss Martha Lueckel were so huge that it could not be placed under the tree and had to be brought in on a freight-truck. Miss Lueckel was adept with the hammer and finally got to the inner recesses of the crate and found a small present awaiting her.

HAY PRESS CREW SAVES WEYENBERG HOME FROM RUIN

Flames in Residence At Freedom Are Checked—Part Of Roof Burned Off

Special to Post-Crescent
Freedom—Hasty efforts of a hay pressing crew saved the home of Jack Weyenberg, two and a half miles from here, when it caught fire about 1:30 Monday afternoon. Part of the roof was burned off and considerable damage was done by water, but the loss is understood to be covered by insurance.

Mr. Weyenberg had been at Seymour and on arrival home found the furnace fire out. He burned a quantity of shingles and this caused the chimney to burn out. The roof began to blaze next to the chimney.

Help was asked from Appleton but the department decided the home would be consumed by the time a truck could be dispatched there, and a local alarm also was turned in about that time.

Most of the furniture was moved out of the home, believing it would be consumed entirely. A hay pressing crew of 18 men was at a nearby farm, however, and these men, with the assistance of others in the neighborhood, battled so vigorously that they were able to control the flames. The top of part of the house was burned off, including an attic, and the ceilings were waterlogged.

The family is able to occupy part of the house temporarily.

REPORTING INCOME TO UNCLE SAM WILL BE SIMPLER TASK

Revenue Collector Announces Blank Will Be Ready January 2

Filling out a federal income tax blank will be less complicated a task next year for the individual with an income of $5,000 or less, according to an announcement by A. H. Wilkinson, collector of internal revenue, Milwaukee.

Copies of the new simplified form for reporting returns, as well as the forms for corporation, partnership, personal service corporation, information, fiduciary and other returns, will be available after Jan. 2.

Form 1040A, heretofore used for filing returns of individual net income of $5,000 and less has been revised and simplified in the interests of the largest class of taxpayers, namely salaried persons and wage earners. The new form will be used for reporting smaller incomes derived chiefly from salaries and wages. Reducing to a minimum the problem of correctly making out an income tax return, form 1040A consists of a single sheet in which space is provided for answers to only three questions in relation to income such as salaries, wages, commissions, etc., interests, bank deposits, notes, mortgages and corporation bonds and other income.

Questions pertaining to business, professions, sales of real estate etc., will be omitted. But persons who derived income from such sources will have to use larger form 1040, regardless of the amount.

Assured by the bureau of internal revenue of prompt service in furnishing the necessary forms, taxpayers of their income tax returns. The filing period is from Jan. 1 to March 15, 1924. The revenue office in the city hall will be open at stated periods yet to be announced.

Library Wants Magazines For Their Pictures

Nothing adds more to the interest of a lesson or study topic than pictures, and Appleton teachers and club women, in fact everyone interested in mounted pictures, have an especially fine opportunity to borrow pictures from the Appleton Public Library. The only trouble is that the demand is greater than the supply.

One can secure pictures that will accompany almost any subject at the library. These pictures have been clipped from magazines and are nicely mounted on cardboard, so that they may conveniently be placed on bulletin boards.

Most of the pictures have been clipped from the National Geographic magazine and because this magazine is very anxious that people who have copies of the publication and who no longer have use for them, will give them to the library so that the pictures may be cut out. It does not matter if there is more than one copy of a certain issue, for in many instances the same pictures are asked for.

Miss Florence Day, librarian, said that if people are willing to give these issues to the picture department, the library will be glad to send someone to call for them.

New York Critic Praises Work Of Appleton Sculptor

Alfred Lenz, brother of Mrs. Herman Wildhagen and a former Appleton young man who has attained national fame as an artist in New York, has on exhibition at the National Academy, New York, "Star Dust," a delicately fanciful bronze which delights all who view it.

The New York Daily Commercial, in publishing a double column picture of it says:

"Of all the exhibitors at the Winter Exhibition of the National Academy we doubt if there is one whose work is so entirely individual from its position to his finish as that of Alfred Lenz. This artist brings to his work not only an exquisite sense of design and imagination and fancy that vivify and spiritualize everything he does.

"In his methods of work, Mr. Lenz is akin to the great artists of the Renaissance, most of whom began as workers in precious metals and became in time the great masters in sculpture, painting and architecture of their generation.

"Mr. Lenz's beautiful small bronze,

"The combination of idealism and poetry in his conception with exquisite manual craftsmanship are quite unusual, and make everything that Mr. Lenz does stand out as the manifestation of a rare artistic equipment.

"These little bronzes of Mr. Lenz are much sought by collectors everywhere."

"Mr. Lenz is several artists in one for he not only models his design in wax, but carries it through all stages of its development, including the fusing of the metals and casting to the final adding of those delicate gradations of color that distinguish his bronzes from others.

"He uses various metals, including copper, silver and bits of gold, suggesting in their results charming variations of surfaces, something of the masterly handling of the famous artists of the Orient.

"It is only within comparatively recent years that Mr. Lenz has sent his work to the Academy, but for years it has attracted the attention of connoisseurs and all interested in the

NEW LONDON WOMAN DIES FROM FUMES FROM COAL STOVE

Neighbor Finds Woman Unconscious After She Had Not Been Seen For Day

After being unconscious in her home for an indefinite time from gas fumes, Mrs. Anna Remmel, 50, Washington-st., New London, died late Tuesday afternoon. The gas fumes escaped from a coal stove.

Mrs. Remmel was found unconscious Monday evening by members of the family of the Rev. Adolph Spiering pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church, who lives next door. She lived alone and had not been seen moving about the home Monday as usual. The house was entered because of fears that something might have happened to her.

The fumes had left Mrs. Remmel so weakened that pneumonia set in and caused her death.

Mrs. Remmel was born April 17, 1873 at Menasha and spent her childhood on a farm at Maple Creek. She was married in 1895 to John Remmel who died five years ago. She is survived by her father, Herman Froehlich, Appleton; two sons, Edwin, Shawano; Arthur, Milwaukee; two brothers and two sisters whose names were not ascertained.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Saturday afternoon at Immanuel Lutheran church, New London, with the Rev. Adolph Spiering in charge. Burial will be made in Floral Hill cemetery, New London.

Honor Hatch As Mason For Fifty Years

Waverly lodge of the Masonic order held a double celebration at Masonic hall Tuesday night, honoring the fiftieth anniversary of R. A. Hatch's membership and the initiating of the four-hundredth member in the master mason degree. The attendance was among the largest the lodge ever has had.

Mr. Hatch was presented with a silver trowel as a token of his long affiliation with Waverly lodge. He received his third degree 50 years ago last June.

Carl Sherry, who received his master mason degree Tuesday evening, was the four-hundredth to be enrolled.

A. C. Remley, worshipful master, presented the trowel to Mr. Hatch, with words of praise for achieving this record. A brief address of acknowledgment was made by the veteran member, who was almost too surprised to speak.

Mr. Remley in his remarks declared that the old saying, "Time and tide wait for no man" is quite true; that while the membership was rolling up higher and higher in the lodge and had reached 400 it was at the same time making a 50-year-old member of Mr. Hatch.

First Mortgage Collateral 5% Gold Bonds, Series A

Dated July 1, 1923 Due July 1, 1953

Price 92½ and Interest, Yielding Over 5½ %

Interest payable January 1 and July 1 without deduction for the Normal Federal Income Tax now or hereafter deductible at the source not in excess of 2%. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, registrable as to principal, and in fully registered form in denominations of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Application will be made to list these bonds on the Chicago Stock Exchange.

For detailed information regarding these Bonds, attention is directed to a letter of Mr. Samuel Insull, President of the Company, from which the following is summarized:

THE COMPANY: Commonwealth Edison Company, serving electrical energy, practically without competition, to the entire City of Chicago, with a population of over 2,800,000, is one of the largest electric generating and distributing companies in the world.

SECURITY: These $15,000,000 of Bonds constitute the initial issue under the Mortgage of the Company dated July 1, 1923, and before their issuance there will be pledged under the mortgage $15,000,000 in principal amount of the Company's First Mortgage Gold Bonds. Upon release of the Company's First Mortgage these bonds will be secured by a direct first mortgage lien.

EARNINGS: For the year ended December 31, 1922, gross earnings were $43,795,520.63; net, after total expenses, including amortization, depreciation, etc., available for interest on the Company's funded debt, $9,324,596.78 as compared with the annual interest requirements on the total funded debt, including this issue, of $3,798,700. Earnings for the calendar year 1923 will be the largest in the Company's history; gross and net earnings showing an approximate increase of 14% and 12% respectively over those of 1922.

STOCK EQUITY AND DIVIDEND RECORD: The Company's outstanding capital stock has a market value, as indicated by present market quotations, of over 90,000,000. It and its principal predecessor, Chicago Edison Company, have paid dividends since 1889 without interruption, the present rate being 8%.

MANAGEMENT: The Company is managed by experienced public utility men, whose ability, as economical and efficient operators, is evidenced by the successful manner in which the severe test of the war and post-war days was withstood without an increase in rates or a decrease in dividends paid.

In the purchase of these securities we have acted upon the information furnished us, which we regard as reliable, and all statements in this circular are based on such information.

1,500 Tourist Parties At Municipal Camp Spent Nearly $12,000 In City

George Merkel, Caretaker At Alicia Park, Compiles Interesting Data Concerning Tourist Business

Appleton has quite guessing as to the cash value to local business houses of the vast tourist traffic that threads its way through this city over the state highways leading to the playground of the north. It was worth in excess of $11,712.52 for the season of 1923, according to George Merkel, caretaker of the municipal campsite at Alicia park, but the total cannot be determined.

Mr. Merkel decided to find out how much money tourists spent in Appleton. He supplied registration cards that indicated the name and address of the tourist, number of people in his party, his profession, name of home city, kind of car used, destination and other data. He then listed seven items, with a place to fill in the amount spent. These were Gas and oil, tires, repairs, clothing, groceries, restaurants and hotels and miscellaneous. Each camper was asked to register, and they did so willingly.

Incidentally they wrote a few suggestions for improvement of the camp and threw a few bouquets in the direction of the city of Appleton for its beautiful tenting site and hospitality, and a few to Mr. Merkel for his efforts to provide comfort.

that $25,000 would not be too conservative an estimate of the value of visiting tourists to Appleton.

80 KINDS OF CARS

There were 80 makes of automobiles listed on the campsite cards. Ford's predominated, with 550 of that make recorded. Buicks came next with 121 reported. Chevrolet's third with 117 and Dodge's fourth with 102 cars stopping at the park.

Thirty-six states were represented as well as six Canadian provinces, indicating that cars from all over the country pass through Appleton each summer. The states recorded and the number of cars was: Arizona 1, Alabama 2, Alaska 1, California 31, Colorado 5, Connecticut 1, Florida 1, Georgia 1, Illinois 694, Indiana 75, Iowa 15, Kentucky 5, Kansas 3, Michigan 102, Minnesota 58, Missouri 22, Montana 6, Massachusetts 4, New York 23, New Jersey 3, New Hampshire 2, North Carolina 1, Nebraska 5, North Dakota 6, South Dakota 7, Oregon 5, Ohio 62, Rhode Island 2, Pennsylvania 10, Tennessee 1, Wisconsin 120, West Virginia 4, Washington, D. C. 3, Wyoming 12.

could not refrain from turning the card over and writing their appreciation on the reverse side. The hospitality of the city, cleanliness and beauty of the camp and courtesy of caretaker were mentioned by almost all those who made notations. A number suggested better toilet facilities and this has been taken up with the common council.

Here are some of the comments:

A Superior man: "Excellent camp. We shall say a good word for Appleton in Superior."

Milwaukee man: "Your caretaker is as good as we have met, one worth a lot to any community."

St. Louis man: "We appreciate the hospitality of your caretaker."

Edwards, N. Y. man: "We appreciate your camp very much indeed. It is the nicest one we have seen so far."

Milwaukee tourist: "Thanks. This place is a credit to Appleton."

Cedar Rapids, Iowa: "You have a beautiful park and we enjoyed your courtesy."

Milwaukee: "Thank you very much."

and organization of classes will be urged. The course is one of the latest available, embodying the latest and best in merchandising. It is so new in fact that the lessons are furnished only in mimeographed form until they can be printed in the customary book style.

Merchants will be provided with teaching material so they can form their own classes. Those who teach these groups will act as assistant instructors of the university and pupils completing the course will receive the customary college credits.

Announcement and description of the courses will be placed in the hands of each merchant and employee for your hospitality. We shall remember the city of Appleton as the most hospitable and with the cleanest camp we have seen while touring your state."

Springfield, Ohio: "Camp very fine. Best we have found so far north."

KEEP INSURANCE, VETERANS WARNED

Senate Committee Declares It Is a Mistake To Drop U. S. Protection

A warning to ex-service men not to discontinue their War Risk Insurance was recently made by Senator David A. Reed, chairman of the Select Senate committee investigating the U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

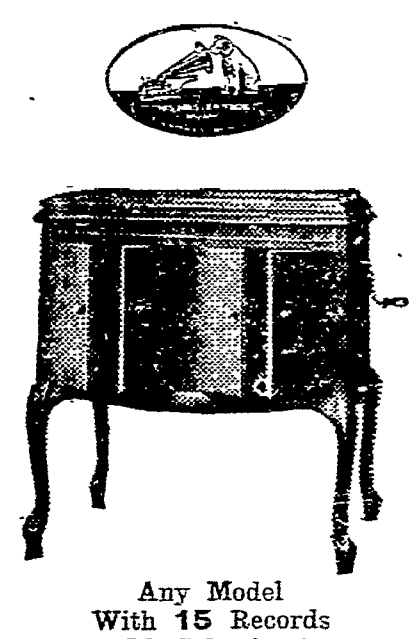

"It has reached the committee from several sources that one result of the investigation of the Veterans' Bureau has been to discourage some of the men who are carrying government insurance. I would like to have it cleared abroad as far as it can go, that the committee has found nothing to indicate that it is unwise for a man to continue to carry that insurance. The insurance is absolutely safe and cheaper than can be bought in any private company. I think I speak for my colleagues when I say it would be very unwise for an ex-service man to discontinue the carrying of that insurance. And so far as it is in the power of the committee, we want to encourage any man to continue to carry that insurance."

"If he wants insurance from any other source, that is the cheapest and best that he can get. We found no evidence to indicate that these policies are not the safest in the world; everything goes to show that they are the safest in the world. And there is no evidence of any intention by the government, or any of the officers who are handling this insurance, to violate their contracts."

Senator Reed pointed out that there were one or two matters affecting government insurance which would be corrected by legislation.

"Government insurance," said Senator Reed, "is a valuable thing to the service man and the committee hopes that no man who is able to carry it will allow it to lapse."

The Keynote

ONLY that which is worth while can survive. The world has no place for a fifth wheel. Production is the keynote of this progressive age.

The mainspring in the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the production of service.

No word in the English language ever has been misused, so glibly, as the word "Service".

In the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) "Service" is interpreted exactly as Webster defines it—"The performance of labor for the benefit of another."

The job of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a dual one—manufacturing and marketing.

The Manufacturing Department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed a large number of primary products from the single base—crude petroleum; each one performing a useful and essential service.

Many of these primary products have been adapted to meet different conditions so that in reality this Company produces hundreds of products from a single base.

This we interpret as a major service.

The marketing Department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has built up a system of distribution so comprehensive that the man living at a cross road in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan or in the mountainous regions of Southwestern Missouri is as sure of a constant supply of Standard Oil products as is the man living in the city.

The farmer, harvesting his crops, can have Standard Oil Company (Indiana) products delivered to him in the field if he needs them.

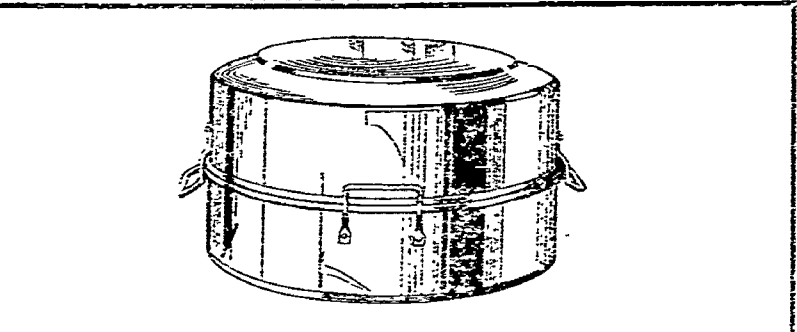

The man who wants a quart of oil receives the same degree of painstaking attention as the man who buys a barrel.

The service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is not of the "fair weather" brand—it is sustained—it endures—it is big.

Service is what has made the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) big, and by the same token, it is bigness that has made Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service possible.

Not alone bigness as relates to size but bigness in vision; bigness in reducing vision to practical terms of usefulness for the lasting benefits of mankind and the world at large.

NOTE FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON

MY DEAR SYDNEY:

No one but a bachelor, who had never had the financial responsibilities of a wife and baby, would ever buy such a gorgeous and expensive baby carriage as you have sent me.

I am sure the manufacturers made that carriage purposely for wealthy godfathers to use as presents to their more or less impetuous godsons.

I watched Junior's nurse, Sarah, wheeling the baby yesterday because the carriage was so grand I had to put Sarah in uniform—Alaskan nurse's cap and all and honorably, I felt quite like Mrs. Vanderbilt sending out her first born.

It was wonderful of you, Syd, but it is almost too grand for common folk. I am going to keep it all for you and shall be sending it back to you for your first born.

I think Alice is coming home a little sooner than I had expected and so I am going to defer the christening of the baby for a little while.

He is so sweet. If I had picked him out from all the babies in the world I could not have one I should like better.

Come up and see him, please, and see what you think of your friend, Jack, as a proud papa. Do you know he sits by the cradle and watches that baby by the hour? I told him the other day he was looking to see if he couldn't impress his face upon the lineaments of the child, and what do you suppose he said? "No, dear, I'm trying to catch a glimpse of some little fleeting expression which occasionally makes me think he looks like me."

Honestly, Syd, he does have that little quirky smile and much to my delight the other day, I found him raising one of his eyebrows in the middle just as Jack does when he isn't altogether happy.

Of course, I expect thousands of babies have these little idiosyncrasies, but isn't it nice that we have happened to get one of them?

Again let me thank you for the gorgeous baby carriage. I expect, though, that a carriage as fine as that should never be called anything but a perambulator. I noticed that is what you called it.

Jack says, "Aunt boy, Syd, you have done yourself proud," and I add the information that you certainly have done Jack proud as well. With sincerest gratitude,

LESLIE

Adventures Of The Twins

Squeaky-Moo Land

"I want you to do me a favor, children," said the Fairy Queen to Nancy and Nick, the Twins. "Will you?"

"Is it another adventure?" asked Nick eagerly.

"Yes, although it won't take you far from home," nodded the gracious lady. "Did you ever hear of Mister Dodger of Squeaky-Moo Land? The Twins shook their heads.

"I thought not," went on the Fairy Queen. "For he's a most secret person. That's how he gets his name—because he is always dodging, so people won't see him. Well, it's Mister Dodger I wish you to help this time. He has more than can do, although he is a fairy and smart as that. He lives under a corn shock in Squeaky-Moo Land and his duty is to look after the barnyard folk. There! I believe I hear him now. Go to the door, Nimble Toes, and see if we have a visitor."

Nimble Toes, the Fairy Queen's servant, opened the front door of the palace, and what they saw almost took their breath away. For a very queer person was getting off a very queer steed.

It was Mister Dodger. He wore a corn-husk suit and a corn-husk hat and smoked a pipe with tobacco—as he told them later—made out of corn silk. He was as tall as his steed was fat, for he was riding no other than Pigg-Wig Pig of the "squeaky" sort and the curly tail and ears like the end of a turnip stalk.

"How do you do, Mister Dodger," said the Fairy Queen. "Here are your new helpers, the Twins. I told you about them, Nancy and Nick, this is Mister Dodger."

"How'd' do? How's tricks?" said Mister Dodger, tipping his corn-husk hat and puffing out a great cloud of corn-husk smoke.

"We don't know any," said Nancy, dropping her best courtesy.

"Ho, ho, ho!" roared Mister Dodger. "I don't mean that kind. I mean just my way of saying, 'How are you?'"

"Oh, we're both well, thank you," answered Nick.

"Now," remarked Mister Dodger, "and now if you're both ready, we'd better be going. I'm busier than a scarecrow with two guns."

ELECTRIC CITY BOOSTS ATHLETICS AT BANQUET

Kaukauna Sport Fans Adopt Coaching Board To Foster Athletics

Crowds Throng Elks Club At Banquet To Honor Legion Team; Coach W. F. Ashe Resigns

Kaukauna—Announcement of a new system of teaching athletics to legion and school teams of this city and adoption of preliminary measures for establishment of a chamber of commerce or board of trade to speak for the city in matters of general interest were outstanding features at the first annual citizens' appreciation banquet held Tuesday night at the Elks hall under the auspices of the American Legion. The banquet was given in honor of the legion football team and coaches and was attended by nearly 200 fans who crowded the dining hall to capacity.

After the dinner, Mayor C. E. Raught delivered an interesting address on "What athletics means to the community." The mayor traced the importance of sports and athletics from the ancient Spartan and Greek athletes, through the age of chivalry down to the present day, saying that in athletic endeavor lies the origin of loyalty, courage, manhood and patriotism.

"Sport of all kinds," the mayor said, "inculcates in boys and men a spirit of competition and the ambition to excel in one or all branches, thus causing a healthful rivalry and setting a goal, the attainment of which calls forth all that is best in one's character."

"Furthermore," he said, "local athletics in particular are an important means of advertising the city and keeping it on the map." The mayor condemned a statement he quoted, which referred to sports as a waste of time and characterized the author as a crabbed, selfish, narrow and bloodless dervish. In closing, he eulogized the legion team and its coaches, and thanked them for their service to the city.

PLAYERS SPEAK

Several members of the team then were called upon to speak. Carl Rennie, who was elected captain of the team, congratulated his mates on their success, and commented on the pleasure it had been for him to work with them. Paul Smith, who has two sons on the Kaukauna team, delivered a short speech in which he gave a father's idea of football. He said that it was a pleasure for him to see his boys take an active part in any athletic competition, as he knew that to do so they must keep in the best possible physical condition. His experience with employees in the mill of which he is superintendent, he said, showed him these men were more capable and efficient than others who took no part in sports. A sportsman strives for a certain goal in his games, and even after the contest is over, that man retains the habit of striving for a certain mark, which makes for efficiency and clean-cut endeavor, he said.

Ed Rennie, manager of the team, then gave a short summary of the activities of the team from its inception in 1920 down to the end of the present season. The aggregation started with out money or equipment, going into debt for suits and material for the first game, in which the men played the Green Bay Packers at Green Bay, and thereby earned enough money to carry them through the first season. Ever since that time, he said, Kaukauna fans have supported the squad generously, for which he thanked them.

Other interesting but short talks were given by H. Olm on "The value of training during the season," by "Cub" Buck on "Football as I know it," and by Lester Brenzel, a member of the team, who discussed the topic "Are the bumps you get worth it?" Bill Smith, freshman coach at Lawrence, who refereed many of the Kaukauna games, was also called upon for a few remarks.

ASHE PROPOSES MEASURES

W. F. Ashe, head coach of Kaukauna, delivered the final address of the evening, dwelling chiefly upon the importance of team work, not only in sports, but in every communal endeavor. He said that the Legion team possessed not one outstanding player. Most of the men would not even be accepted on many college teams, but the fact that they all worked for the good of the team and not for personal glory had made of them a winning team.

"This same spirit," he said, "if applied in any other community activity, would bring success. Team work requires character and grit, he said. To get out every day for weeks and go through the gruelling drill required of a football team, showed that the men possessed both of these qualities in abundance."

Ashe announced that he had resigned as head coach, and that a new system had been decided upon, where, by former players of the Legion team, might still retain a finger in the pie. A board of six veterans had been chosen, he said, who would coach the team not only of the Legion, but also of the high school. The men, being of Kaukauna, would take a deeper interest in the city's athletics than hired coaches, and their efficiency therefore will be greater.

A number of musical selections by the Harold Derus quartet completed the program.

He was one of the leading pitchers in the Western league last year and has been under observation by Yankee scouts for two seasons.

BADGER QUINT IS FAVORITE IN GAME WITH HILLTOPPERS

Marquette's Loss Of Duford Puts Team Under Great Handicap

By Associated Press

Milwaukee—Wisconsin and its short passing game as taught by Doc McNeill will enter the widely heralded game with Marquette at the Auditorium Wednesday night at a decided favorite to square accounts for the 9 to 8 defeat handed the Badgers in the last minute of play at Madison last season. The game will start at 8:15.

Comparative scores, though seldom an infallible basis for comparison, give the Cardinals an impressive edge. Early in the season the McNeill men trounced Milwaukee by a score of 53 to 12. On Monday, ten days later, Milwaukee forced Marquette to the limit before losing 22 to 14.

DUFORD'S LOSS SEVERE

The loss of Duford who incidentally shot the winning basket in last year's game, was the severest blow that last season's Marquette team could sustain. Murray's task to fill Duford's shoes effectively is almost impossible this year.

Wisconsin too suffered by graduation in the loss of Williams and Tebbell, two of the greatest guards in Wisconsin history. Yet McNeill expects to have drawn from his reserves material two excellent men in Diabold and Elson, for both have played sparkling defensive games this season.

Capt. Quinn and Dunn will probably start at the forwards for Marquette. Curran at center, and Fitzgerald and Derrine at the guards. Wisconsin's starting lineup will be composed of Varney and Spooner at forwards, Capt. Gibson at center, and Diabold and Elson at the guards.

BIG TEN OFFICIALS IN CHARGE

Big Ten officials will handle the game. Millard, of Illinois Wesleyan, will be umpire; Schommer of Chicago, referee, and Frank, of Ripon, timer.

CRICQUI LOSES TITLE TO FRENCH FIGHTER

Ruling Gives European Title To Winner Over Henri Hebrans

Paris—Edouard Mascart, the French featherweight fighter, on Tuesday night defeated Henri Hebrans of Belgium on points in a fifteen round bout.

According to a recent ruling of the international boxing federation, Mascart was to be given the French and European featherweight championship held by Eugene Cricqui in case he defeated Hebrans.

The announcement was made after the federation had given consideration to a letter from Cricqui's manager, saying Cricqui would be unable to meet Mascart and defend his title, owing to injuries sustained some time ago in a bout with Hebrans.

The letter was considered by the federation as virtual abandonment by Cricqui of his title.

BREWERS WILL PLAY DODGERS NEXT YEAR

New York—A schedule of fifteen exhibition games in Florida preceding the annual spring series with the New York Yankees has been arranged for the Brooklyn National league club. Except for two games with the Milwaukee club of the American association, all the Dodgers' opponents will be major league teams. The games with Milwaukee will be played at Clearwater and Palmetto, Fla.

SHUGRUE'S CHILEAN VICTIM OFF FOR HOME

New York—Luis Vincentini, Chilean lightweight, defeated Johnny Shrugue last Friday. will return home this week in response to an urgent message from his family. His manager said on Tuesday. This has upset temporarily the fighting plans of Vincentini, who was being groomed for a match with Benny Leonard, light-weight champion, but the Chilean is expected to return to this country early next year. His manager said he would remain here to arrange a match with either Johnny Clinton, of Brooklyn, or Pal Moran of New Orleans.

ELECTIONS STOP MAJOR SEASON IN 1924 ON SEPT. 30

Heydler And Johnson In Harmony On Plan To Make Way For Campaign

New York—Major league schedule makers have agreed upon an arrangement which will bring the 1924 season to a close on Sept. 30 or 20 earlier than ever before for a campaign of 154 games it was revealed on Tuesday by John A. Heydler, president of the National league.

Mr. Heydler said that Ban Johnson, president of the American league, was in harmony with the plan. Details will be worked out by the two executives at a conference here early next week.

The fact that 1924 is a presidential year, with the campaigns assuming paramount importance early in the fall, and that an earlier closing will enable finishing the season under daylight saving time, figured in the decision for an earlier closing, Mr. Heydler explained. He said that in Philadelphia and Boston, where Sunday games are not permitted, a few double headers will be necessary to complete the schedule. The opening date for both leagues has been fixed for April 15.

Another result of this plan will be to advance by at least a week's time the start of the world's series. This year the playing seasons closed on Oct. 7 and the series began on Oct. 10.

RACINE RING STAR BACK FROM CHINA

New York—Knute Hansen, the young heavyweight of Racine, Wis., has been fighting with much success at Shanghai, China, for over eleven months, he having won seven fights in that country, is due back in America on Jan. 5. Hansen will be 21 years old in February. His age will permit him to fight more than six round bouts then, so he decided to return to America.

TILDEN REMAINS SUPREME AMONG RACQUET WIELDERS

Another year is coming across the horizon with Bill Tilden still standing out as the king of the racquet wielders. And this despite a crippled back, which the experts had practically agreed would deprive him of his cherished title. Tildens are few and far between. But when they come it seems that they last for more than a spell.

DROP FOUR TILTS IN ROW BUT MAKE STRONG FINISH

Glen Warner didn't experience a very successful season in his last at Pittsburgh. The Panthers dropped four tilts in a row, something quite out of the ordinary for Pitt aspirations. However, the veteran of 34 has turned out some great play during his Pitt regime. He made a strong finish by defeating college rivals Penn State and W. & J.

HOPPE INCREASES LEAD IN SECOND BLOCK OF MATCH

Champion 18.2 Balkline Player Shoots Brilliant But Erratic Game

By Associated Press

Chicago—Willie Hoppe mixed a dazzling display of 18.2 balkline billiards with some mediocre shot making and safety play in Tuesday night's 500 point block of his play off of a tie for the world's championship with Walker Cochran, and for the two night's play took the commanding lead of 1,600 to 438. Hoppe reached 1,000 Tuesday night with an unfinished run of 52.

Hoppe's innings Tuesday night showed one blank, three singles and three counts of two but as the game wore on he put together runs of open table driving and close nursing and went out with an incomplete run of 53.

Cochran never could get started. Twice when he looked good he missed mass shots and had to sit down. His stroke seemed fine at the start, but faltered badly in his shot making.

Hoppe left the balls in good position at the foot of the table for resumption of play of the final 500 point block Wednesday night.

The score by innings for the two nights:

Cochran—5 2 3 7 4 8 9 5 0 2 3 0 2 0 0 4 6 9 2 20 15 30. Total, 438. High run, 89; average, 24-418.

Hoppe—150 34 40 211 64 2 2 1 1 1 9 0 2 52 162 3 207 23. Total, 1,009. High run, 211. Average, 55-1048.

LAWRENCE FROSH LEAVE BLUE QUINT

Conference Ruling Returns Yearling Stars To Bill Smith's Five

Decision at the recent Little Eight conference meeting at Chicago barring freshmen from interscholastic contests until after Feb. 1, gives Coach Bill Smith a brilliant prospect for his yearling basketball team at Lawrence. Many of the men chosen by A. C. Denney for his varsity team this season were first-year men picked from the teams which won the championship of the college for the first year class. These boys will not be permitted to play with the upper classmen on the regular five until February, but meanwhile nothing prevents them from taking part in the heavy Frosh schedule. Heideman, Broese, Niles and Mills are four of the men returned to Smith's string for the time being by the ruling, and with these to strengthen his already fast outfit, Smith is looking forward to a highly successful start.

GOLF PHENOMS LACKING DURING SEASON OF 1923

No really new sensation cropped out in golf in 1923. At least not on the order of Sweetser, Sarazen and Glenna Collett. Of course the youth-fu! Bobby Jones climbed the championship heights, but Bobby has been knocking at the door for a long time.

10-GAME SCHEDULE TOO HARD ON TEAM, KNUTE ROCKNE SAYS

Noted Notre Dames Coach Thinks Strain Causes Players To Go Stale

"O F ONE thing I am convinced," says Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, "no college team can play 19 games on successive Saturdays, a majority of them major contests, and keep from going stale."

"The season just closed has taught me that lesson. Next season it is my intention to play only eight games, with a breaking spell before one of the big contests. Since Nebraska has beaten us two years in succession in all probability I will point my team for that game next season. We must wipe out those two defeats."

"A team without spirit, the old cliché is no good, regardless of its recognized strength. Too much work results in staleness, and when a team goes stale it loses its fight."

"My team lacked fighting spirit in the Nebraska game and suffered defeat. Lack of spirit is a feature of play that every coach must constantly guard against."
